

The Movement Creative's
Earth, Wind, Fire and Water
Witer Warrior Final Challenge
27 March 2021

Cristina Latici leading a "water" challenge

A girl on another waer challenge, above. Below, a "wind" challenge - doing vaults while with a feather held by air against your hard

Besides the water challenge, the "earth" challenge involved carrying sandbags up to the rock, without moving your feet while you hold one.

The fire challenge did not work out. Too windy.

Ada the reluctant, participating(!)

Brian C, working out in a boot after spraining his ankle earlier in the week.

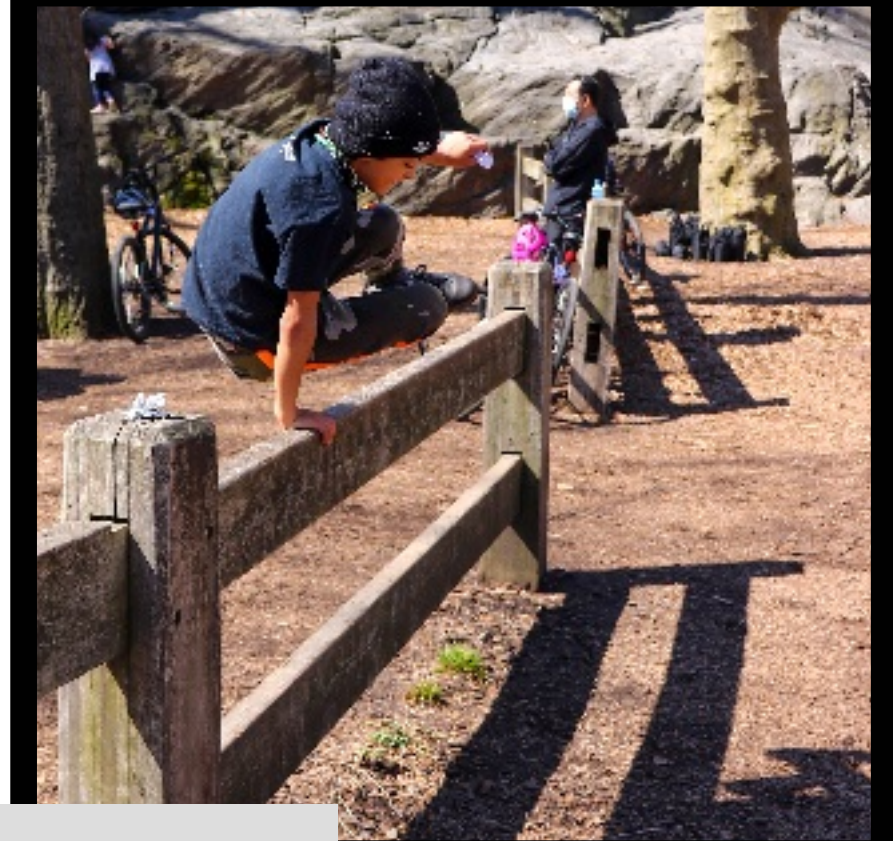

When the coaches announced a climbing challenge, Ellis, at left, claimed the crevasse on the rock as "his."

The portrait is inspired by his eyes.

At right, Boris dong the "wind" challenge, with feather. Lower right, Max strikes a pose.

Whenever Jesse Danger leads a group, it always makes me think of a cult. Not helped by Cristina - the Water Sprite - anointing everyone via wet feather at the end of the session.

Boris, with curly hair, and friend making a valiant effort to get the sandbag and themselves up the rock. With Coach Mike Araujo.

2 April 2021

I was completely charmed by a serious round of Rock, Paper Scissors.

Spring Wham Jam with The Movement Creative

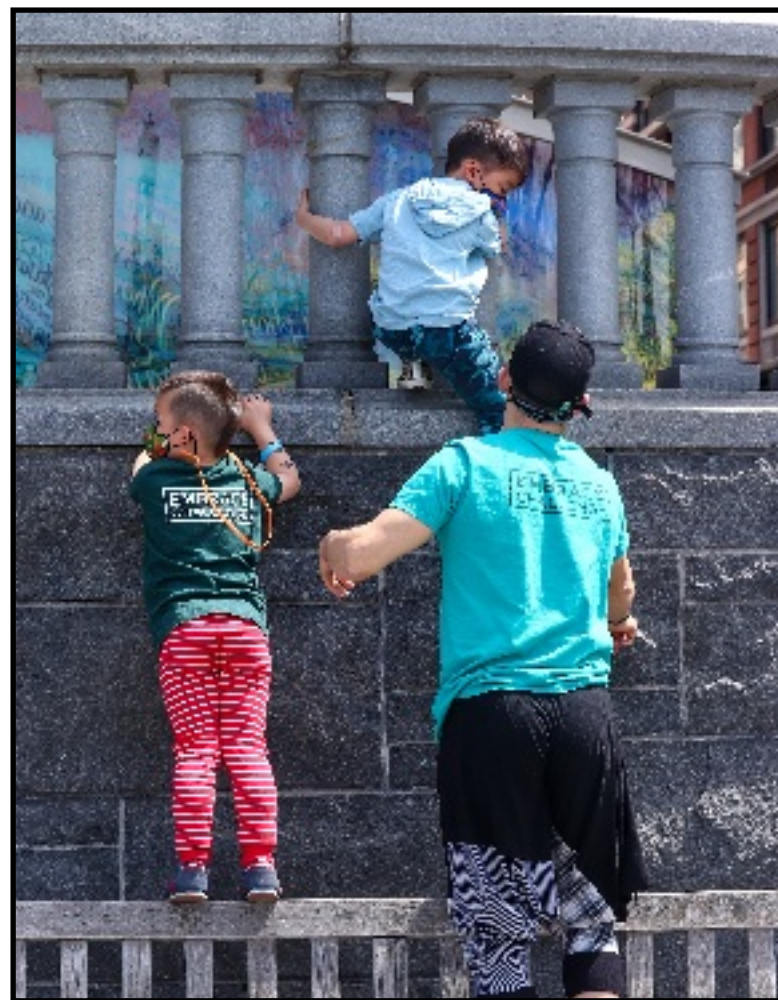

That stands for "We Hang and Move."

The scene-stealers today were Henrick, in the red pants, and Ren, in blue, the All Terrain Five Year-Olds.

With Jesse Danger, below.

VERMONT - 23-28 May 2021

Rider Ondine Bailey atop Domino at a jumping lesson at Pirouette Barn, Norwich VT. Domino is a former polo pony and needs to learn to jump probably more than Ondine

This is the first time I've ever seen a riding ring with a mirror on the wall.

Waiting for the Nerf rocket thing to land.

A serious game of "Monkey Castle" hide-and-seek.

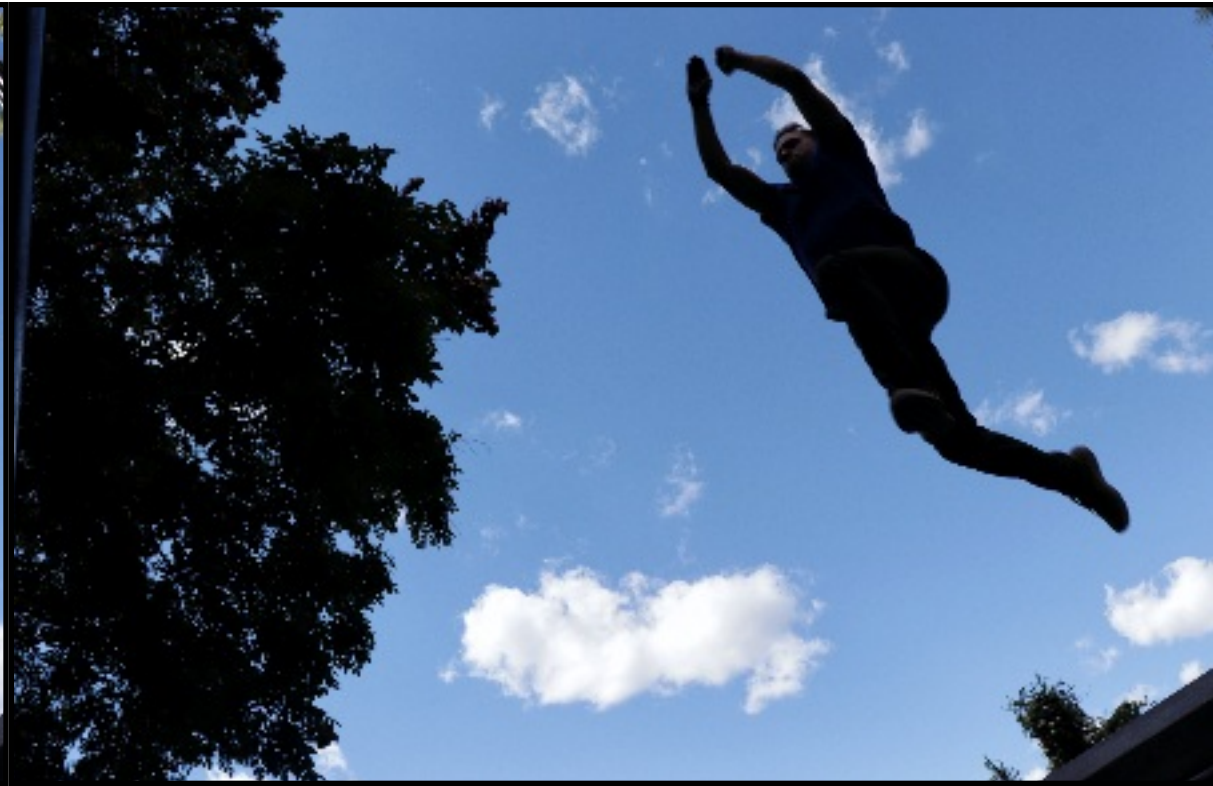

Max, the blonde, is an honorary adult in my class on Saturdays. Now, he's a camp CIT. Here he's teaching and then playing "ghost" on the fence.

Rudy, Lionel and.... Jihan.
