

New York City Triathlon

11 July 2021

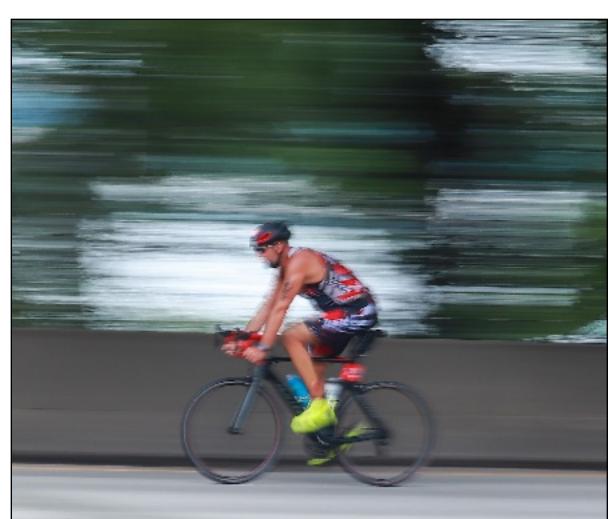

Heavy rains caused the cancellation of the swim segment (due to a high bacteria count in the Hudson) so more accurately it was a biathlon.

I just shot it for fun.

In Riverside Park along the West Side Highway.

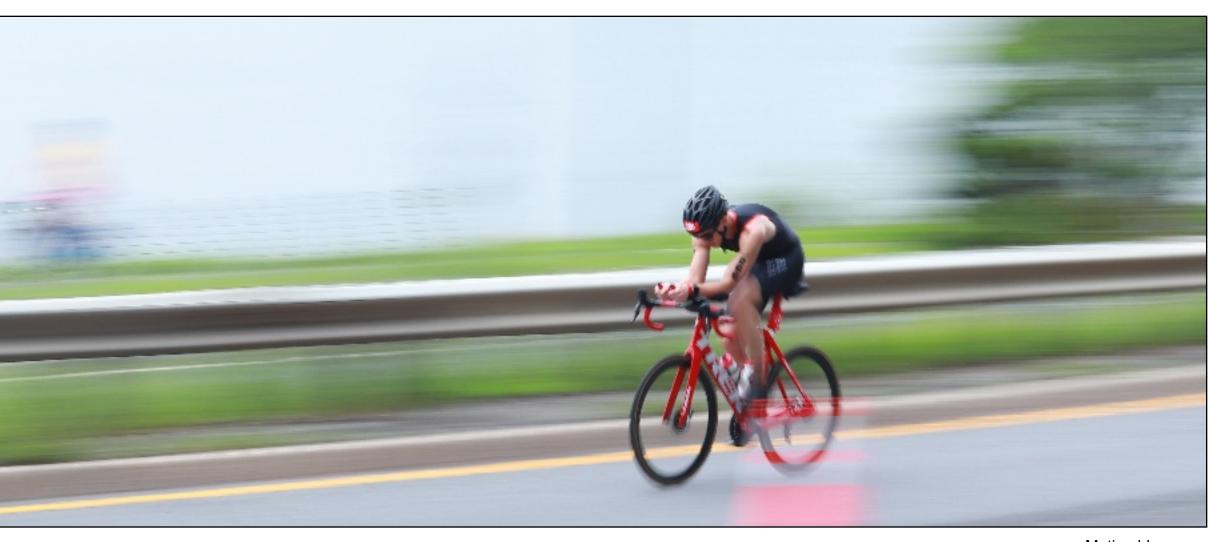

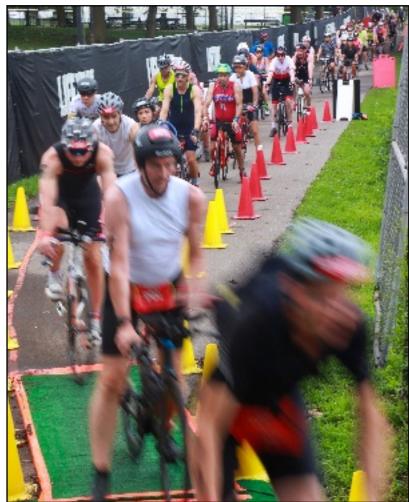

Motion blur

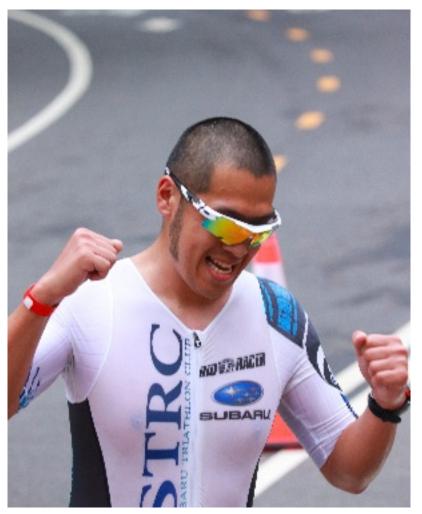

Proof Copy: Not optimized for high quality printing or digital distribution

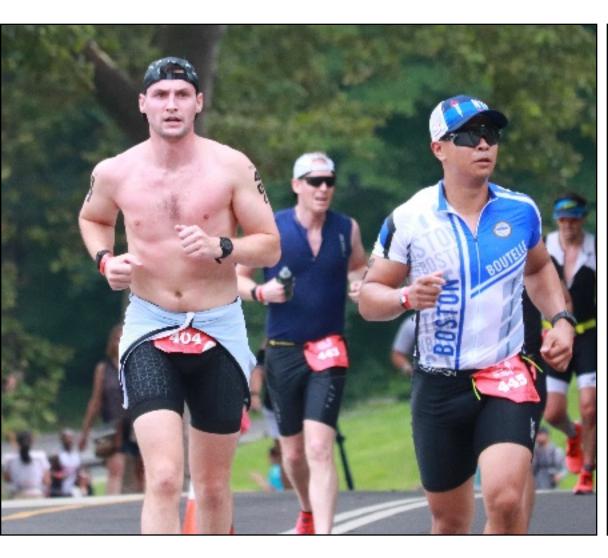

Proof Copy: Not optimized for high quality printing or digital distribution

Approaching the finish line. I believe the "Achilles" project with the neon shirts is about helping blind runners compete.

This is what triathlons look like when they finish in Central Park.

